Then she ran nearly half a mile to where her husband was working. He took her to a hospital where she died.

Peace in China Asked

American relief committee.

Bombs from Soviet planes terrorized both the civilian population of the invaded districts and the defending Chinese forces. Large areas were devastated by fires resulting from the bombs.

But the refugees suffered their greatest hardships in attempting to get to Harbin. The Chinese Eastern railway placed all available trains at the disposal of the refugees.

Panic-stricken soldiers of the demoralized retreating Chinese army, however, ousted the refugees from many of these trains and hundreds were forced to walk part of the distance to Harbin along the railway tracks.

Those on the trains suffered other privations. Many were without food during the entire trip of 300 miles.

Wholesale Looting Reported.

Some were forced to ride on open flat-cars or on the roofs of freight cars and suffered greatly from exposure.

Chinese officers were unable to control their troops, according to the refugees, and wholesale looting by marauding bands of soldiers resulted.

Chinese losses since the Russian drive began have been extremely heavy. The Nationalist headquarters at Tientsin estimated that 4,000 Chinese soldiers were killed and 2,000 wounded in attempting to repel the invaders, but other sources place the casualties at much higher figures.

The Russian troops are now reported to be continuing forward at a leisurely pace, having practically no opposition to face. They are fast approaching the foothills of the Kihnan mountains.

Soviet planes, now operating from bases more than 100 miles inside the Manchurian border, continue their air demonstrations far into Chinese territory.

FAITH IN SANTA PROMPTS TOTS TO BRAVE WASHINGTON TRAFFIC

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(INS.)—Their faith in Santa Claus caused Dorothy and Eileen Belt, five and four years old, to brave downtown traffic for Union station.

An agent for the Travelers' Aid society, approached them.

"We want a ticket to where Santa Claus is," Dorothy said timidly and her sister nodded assent.

The agent told them they needed heavy fur coats, boots and snowshoes and a dogteam to reach Santa's toy shop at the North pole, and even with this equipment, it was doubtful if anybody could reach Santa's place this time of the year because of the snow and ice.

They agreed such a trip would be dangerous and decided to wait for their parents to come for them. They had no money but believed Santa Claus would pay for their tickets when they saw him.

CLEMENCEAU is buried beside his father near the ocean. Cannon boomed in Paris, all over France, and in all French colonies, in his honor. He could not hear. The crowd as he desired was kept from his funeral.

He wanted "neither tears nor women" at his deathbed, and no crowd at his funeral. He had been sufficiently bothered by incompetent and ungraceful men during his life.

PRESIDENT HOOVER calls Clemenceau "an advocate of peace." He was that, but it had to be HIS KIND OF PEACE. In the horror of war, when men were being killed by the million and pacifism appealed to him his was "Je Pals La Guerre" "I am making war."

And when he started making war he kept at it until he got the peace that France needed.

IT was because of his constant demand that France be prepared, with a big army, compulsory military service, and the latest weapon always, that France was ready when the time came.

But for Clemenceau, his constant warnings that Germany would attack again, and demand that France be kept ready.

AFTER years of steady fighting, many doubting and wavering, there was never a doubt in Clemenceau's mind. He said "If France is invaded, we will retreat to the Pyrenees. And we will fight to the last quarter of an hour, and that quarter of an hour will be ours."

IT was his, he won, and made the peace that suited him, a rapid and severe peace. But he lived through 1870.

POINCARÉ, former president of France who made Clemenceau prime minister, hearing in a hospital, where he lay dangerously ill, of Clemenceau's death, wrote on a piece of paper "Il a sauvé la France, 'He Saved France.' That puts it in three words.

CLEMENCEAU'S last book will soon be read all over the world. In it he speaks of these "eternal puzzles." When asked "what of the hereafter?" he had replied "What of the before?"

THE eternal puzzles include three. How did we come here? Why are we here? Whither do we go?

Clemenceau answered the second question with "We are here to fight for our country and for justice," and ignored the others.

A HORRIBLE story of torture and murder comes from Armenia. A young man of 20, on the way to be married with a girl 16 years of age, was seized by five young men, tortured, then burned to death, the woman horribly treated.

THOSE accused of the crime include two described as "members of well-known prominent families." All of them, it appears, are Americans, born here. It is well to mention that, since you hear so much about "foreign crime."

ALL the really important millionaires are planning to continue prosperity. The nation probably will build roads, railroads, will order steel, all big business will do what they can. But prosperity depends on the people themselves, and largely, on their mental condition.

IF they spend their money and buy they will provide work for others.

THEY are cheerful, the nation will be cheerful.

All the millionaires, all the great industrialists, all the congresses and legislators cannot do for the people that which they must do for themselves—WORK AND KEEP THEIR COURAGE.

THE Women's Patriotic Publishing Company" criticize the state department for permitting Count Karolyi, distinguished Hungarian, to enter the United States.

The ladies suspect that "Karolyi harbors revolutionary ideas."

HE does indeed, and so did Washington, Jefferson, Franklin and some others.

Those men all harbored revolutionary ideas, and did more. They started a real revolution, carried it through successfully, took the country away from those that were according to law "its rightful owners," and shot many of them.

Britain Suggests Peace Move In China

LONDON HINTS APPEAL TO U. S. IN SQUABBLE

Settlement of Dispute With Russia is Urged.
LEAGUE MAY ACT
Signatories of Kellogg Pact Asked to Intervene.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(INS)—Great Britain is willing to participate with the other signatories of the Kellogg pact in joint action aimed at a peaceful settlement of the dispute between Soviet Russia and China, Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson told the house of commons today.

He would give consideration of the suggestion of Sir Austen Chamberlain, former foreign secretary, that Britain initiate action by negotiating with the United States for joint intervention in the Asiatic squabble.

The foreign secretary declared, however, that he thought a preferable course would be to wait action by the League of Nations.

The appeal of the Nanking government to the Kellogg pact signatories to halt the "invasion" of Manchuria by Soviet forces was dispatched from Peking yesterday, under date of Monday. Identical notes were sent to members of the League of Nations.

Former American Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, author of the pact, who is now in London, declined to comment on the matter when seen by International News Service, for fear of embarrassing the Hoover administration. He indicated, however, his belief that any concerted action by the powers in the Sino-Russian crisis would be beneficial at the present moment.

Tales of Privation Pour In.
PEKING, Nov. 27.—(INS)—While the Chinese government waited the results of its appeals to both the League of Nations and the individual signatories of the Kellogg pact to take steps to halt the Soviet "invasion" of Manchuria, tales of the privations of residents of the war-torn area poured in here today.

More than 10,000 Chinese and several hundred Russian refugees from the Hailar and Dalaian are now in Harbin where most of them are being cared for by the Russians.

"Faith and Virtue" Sermon At Revival

"Faith and Virtue" was the theme of the sermon by the Rev. Brooks Morgan at the revival services in the Oakland Free Methodist church last night.

"Faith and virtue go hand in hand," he said. "Faith arms the soul with manly vigor through laying hold of God. The Christian man is called to courageous action. He must be strong and not a coward."

"Virtue wraps a nation in moral grandeur which no despotism can overthrow. It makes men famous on earth, illustrious in death and immortal in heaven. Virtue consists of doing our duty to ourselves, our fellowmen and our God."

Observers, who now and then cast a respectful eye toward Inspector Matowitz, noted also that the inspector wasn't particularly keen about the "paper wad" scene—especially after he had been in the range of fire for some time.

E. Liverpool Sends Five Representatives To Meeting.

BY BURL A. ELY
CLEVELAND, Nov. 27.—(INS)—Public and private expansion and improvement programs involving the expenditure of nearly $100,000,000 are expected to be revealed here today by more than 200 public officials and citizens from 30 counties in a conference on business conditions.

City Represented At Cleveland Meet

Representatives of the East Liverpool municipal administration and the Chamber of Commerce are attending the northeastern Ohio business "pop" rally in Cleveland today.

The city is represented by Mayor Ralph C. Benedum, Auditor McGraw and Water Works Clerk Frank Robinson. Service-Safety Director John W. Moore will represent the Chamber of Commerce, having been appointed by President Joseph H. Betz, George B. Patterson, Wellsville contractor, also accompanied the party.

The conference was called by the Cleveland City Council and Chamber of Commerce.

Two State-wide Expansions

The meeting is, in effect, a business "pop rally" for the discussion of carrying through President Hoover's prosperity movement as suggested in his economic conferences in Washington last week.

Simultaneous with the opening of the conference came the announcement of two state-wide expansion programs calling for the expenditure of more than $30,000,000 by two Ohio corporations.

The Ohio Bell Telephone Co., through its president, E. F. Carter, announced that it will spend $23,500, in Ohio this year as part of a five-year expansion and improvement program which will total expenditures of $167,400,000.

Over the five-year period, Akron will benefit from $13,000,000 in the company's program, while Youngstown has been allotted $6,000,000 for improvements and Canton $3,000,000 in detailed figures of the report show.

W. T. Holliday, president of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, said that his company will expend $2,750,000 on an expansion program.

Optimism Marks Rally

With these and other heartening reports of similar rallies to Ohio's prosperity movement, Northern Ohio public officials brought anything but gloom to the business "pop rally."

CLEMENCEAU is buried beside his father near the ocean. Cannon boomed in Paris, all over France, and in all French colonies, in his honor. He could not hear. The crowd as he desired was kept from his funeral. He wanted "neither tears nor women" at his death, and no crowd at his funeral. He had been sufficiently bothered by incompetent and ungraceful men during his life.

PRESIDENT HOOVER calls Clemenceau "an advocate of peace." He was that, but it had to be HIS KIND OF PEACE.

In the horror of war, when men were being killed by the million and pacifism appealed to him his reply was "Je Fais La Guerre" "I am making war."

And when he started making war he kept at it until he got the peace that France needed.

IT was because of his constant demand that France be prepared, with a big army, compulsory military service, and the latest weapon always, that France was ready when the time came.

But for Clemenceau, his constant warnings that Germany would attack again, and his demand that France be kept ready, France would have been conquered easily.

AFTER years of steady fighting, many doubting and wavering, there was never a doubt in Clemenceau's mind. He said "If France is in danger, we will retreat to the Pyrenees. And we will fight to the last quarter of an hour, and that quarter of an hour will be ours."

IT was his, he won, and made the peace that suited him, a savage and severe peace. But he had lived through 1870.

POINCARÉ, former president of France who made Clemenceau prime minister, hearing of a hospital, where he lay down, of Clemenceau's death, wrote on a piece of paper "I saved France." "He Saved France." That puts it in three words.

The French called Clemenceau "Father of Victory." The Germans, recognizing facts, call him "The Father of Our Defeat." But for Clemenceau they would have won the war.

CLEMENCEAU's last book will soon be read all over the world. In it he speaks of these "eternal puzzles." When asked "what of the hereafter?" he had replied "What of the before?"

THE eternal puzzles include three. How did we come here? Why are we here? Whither do we go?

Clemenceau answered the second question with "We are here to fight for our country and for justice," and ignored the others.

A HORRIBLE story of torture and murder comes from Arkansas. A young man of 29, on the way to be married with a girl 16 years of age, was seized by the young men, tortured, then burned to death, the woman horribly treated.

THOSE accused of the crime include two described as "members of well-known prominent families." All of them, it appears, are Americans, born here. It is well to mention that, since you hear so much about "foreign crime."

ALL the really important millionaires are planning to continue their prosperity. The nation probably will build roads, railroads, will order steel, all big business will do what they can. But prosperity depends on the people themselves, and, largely, on their mental condition.

IF they spend their money and buy they will provide work for others. If they are cheerful, the nation will be cheerful.

All the millionaires, all the great industrialists, all the congresses and legislatures cannot do for the people that which they must do for themselves—WORK AND KEEP THEIR COURAGE.

"THE Women's Patriotic Publishing Company" criticizes the state department for permitting Count Karolyi, distinguished Hungarian, to enter the United States. The ladies suspect that "Karolyi harbors revolutionary ideas."

HE does indeed, and so did Washington, Jefferson, Franklin and some others.

Those men all harbored revolutionary ideas, and did more. They started a real revolution, carried it through successfully, took the country away from those that were according to law "its rightful owners" and shot many of them.

Britan Suggests Peace Move In China

LONDON HINTS APPEAL TO U. S. IN SQUABBLE

Settlement of Dispute With Russia is Urged.

LEAGUE MAY ACT Signatories of Kellogg Pact Asked to Intervene.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(INS)—Great Britain is willing to participate with the other signatories of the Kellogg pact in joint action aimed at a peaceful settlement of the dispute between Soviet Russia and China.

Foreign Secretary Henderson told the house of commons this afternoon.

Nanking Government Appeals Henderson promised the house he would give consideration of the suggestion of Sir Austen Chamberlain, former foreign secretary, that Britain initiate action by negotiating with the United States for joint intervention in the Asiatic squabble.

The foreign secretary declared, however, that he thought a preferable course would be to await action by the League of Nations.

The appeal of the Nanking government to the Kellogg pact signatories to halt the "invasion" of Manchuria by Soviet forces was dispatched from Nanking yesterday, under date of Monday. Identical notes were sent to members of the League of Nations.

Former American Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, author of the pact, who is now in London, declined to comment on the matter when seen by International News Service, for fear of embarrassing the Hoover administration. He indicated, however, his belief that any concerted action by the powers in the Sino-Russian crisis would be beneficial at the present moment.

Tales of Frivition Pour In. PEKING, Nov. 27.—(INS)—While the Chinese government awaited the results of its appeals to both the League of Nations and the individual signatories of the Kellogg pact to take steps to halt the Soviet "invasion" of Manchuria, tales of the privations of residents of the war-torn area poured in here today.

More than 10,000 Chinese and several hundred Russian refugees from the Hailar and Dalainor are now in Harbin where most of them are being cared for by the Russians.

"Faith and Virtue" Sermon At Revival

"Faith and Virtue" was the theme of the sermon by the Rev. Brooks Morgan at the revival services in the Oakland Free Methodist church last night.

"Faith and virtue go hand in hand," he said. "Faith arms the soul with manly vigor through laying hold of God. The Christian man is called to courageous action. He must be strong and not a coward."

"Virtue wraps a nation in moral grandeur which no despotism can overthrow. It makes men famous on earth, illustrious in death and immortal in heaven. Virtue consists of doing our duty to ourselves, our fellowmen and our God."

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples
—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effecural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

FOREST LOVE

Thrilling Story of Romance of Modern Girl

By Hazel Livingston

What Has Gone Before. Becoming cynical at her mother's wish to have her marry for wealth and social position, Nancy Hollenbeck, young and beautiful, accepts the ardent attentions of Jack Beamer, supposedly an Englishman of noble birth, who is married to a wealthy invalid. On a mountain trip, Nancy, after a passionate but brief courtship, makes a hasty marriage with a handsome ranger, Roger Decatur. Sickenings of the loneliness, with Roger away, she returns home to resume her life, still keeping her marriage a secret. When Roger, deeply in love with Nancy, comes to take her back, she tells him unless he makes his home in the city she will divorce him, although she realizes her own love for him. After Roger leaves, Nancy continues her clandestine affair with Beamer, whose wife, aware of his philandering, refuses to free him. Louise, Nancy's sister, always second with men, now has a rich, though elderly, suitor.

Now Go On With The Story.

Ridiculous to feel like the heroine of a melodrama when you're twenty-five and have been known all your life as "the plain Hollenbeck girl." Louise knew it was silly. But she couldn't help feeling that way.

Mr. Lachman was mad about her, that much was plain. He had given papa a raise, and promised bigger things. He made extravagant gifts to the family, eyes on her.

For the first time in her life Lou was adored. And it is exciting to be adored, even if it only by a middle-aged banker with a long, wet nose and a bald head.

A beloved woman. . . . Lou brushed her dark brown hair until it shone. Studied her fine, healthy skin. Admired her tall, slim figure. . . . It gave her courage to think that some day . . . some day not too far away, Mat Tully might really care. . . .

Things might have come to a crisis sooner, but Aunt Ellie broke her hip and mama took that as an excuse to spend days, and often weeks, with her in the warm, dark house in San Francisco. "I'm really her nearest relation," she said. "I ought to be there in case anything happens."

"The wife's stepsister is ill," papa told Mr. Lachman. "A very rich woman . . . devoted to Kitty and the girls."

Mr. Lachman, hoping his consideration would be noticed and appreciated, relaxed his courting just a little. In a quiet corner of the club in the evenings he gave himself up to thoughts of Louise . . . angel of mercy, soothing the fevered brow. . . . Little pictures of her hovering over the sick bed floated before his eyes. Sweet Lady Louise. . . . Imperceptibly the picture changed. The old lady vanished. It was his fevered brow Louise was soothing. . . . "Aah!" He could almost feel her soft hand at his temple . . . what a wife she would be. . . .

But it was really Kitty who sat long hours with the invalid. Aunt Ellie in one big padded chair, Kitty in another, they would chat and doze, and chat all day.

"You can't fool me. Joseph is too free with that second girl," Aunt Ellie would begin.

Once on the subject of poor Uncle Joseph's failing, she would talk for an hour and all mama had to do was murmur "Not!" or "Would you believe it," and lie back in her chair, not hearing a word, her mind in a delightful state of coma.

Every two hours Aunt Ellie took her "nourishment" and of course mama, too. The old cook knew how to please. The trays came up laden with rich little cakes, whipped cream, and sodamint tablets, laid out like candies on a tiny glass dish.

Food always made Kitty Hollenbeck talkative. She would nibble and complain about Grandma Hollenbeck. "Ellie, I give you my word, she'd rather talk to the butcher boy than to me. Why last week. . . ."

Then it would be Aunt Ellie's turn to nod and mumble "Well!" soothed by the drone of conversation, lulled to warm sleepiness by the familiar tale . . . almost as good as counting sheep.

They both enjoyed the winter. There was little enjoyment in it for Nancy. This business of meeting Jack Beamer in private booths and out-of-the-way places was getting on her nerves. No matter where they went they bumped into a skinny fellow with a derby hat and a muffer around his neck. He was always standing around.

"I know it's a detective," Nancy fidgeted.

"Don't be absurd!" The long day was telling on Jack, too. He looked older; there was little puffs under his eyes. But he wasn't afraid of detectives. He felt sure that he had allayed all Anita's suspicions.

"Oh, well! I don't care much either way," Nancy had said wearily. The months of caution had been so long . . . so gloomy. . . . Nights of restless tossing, fevered dreams of Roger and the cabin . . . days of waiting.

Divorces seem so simple when you read about them. When they're your own they aren't simple at all. There are witnesses to think of, and grounds to prepare. Announcements are even harder. Mr. Hess, the attorney she had engaged, was supposed to be one of the best. But he was so slow . . . if only something would happen.

"Come up to the stock farm over the week-end," Jack suggested. "There won't be any detectives. Imaginary or otherwise, to bother you there. I have to go up and look over the yearlings anyway. Come on, take a chance!"

He really didn't expect her to come.

She looked at him dreamily, her pansy-soft eyes far away. "Jack, I'd just love to. I'm so sick of the city, never going anywhere exciting . . . but how could I go?"

"Why not?"

"Well, it would be all right, of course, but who'd believe it? No . . . it's impossible. . . ."

"Why is it impossible? In the first place no one is going to know. And in the second place, if they do find out it's all right. The manager, Jack Garfield, has his family there. Mrs. Garfield is a fine little woman, used to be a school teacher, very refined. You can be visited by her! They're got two kids, and eighteen dogs and seventeen cats and Mrs. Garfield belongs to the Methodist church. Now I ask you, what could be more respectable than that?"

It might be respectable, but it wouldn't seem so if it were found out. Nancy knew that. Well! That made it more exciting!

Meeting Jack on Saturday morning, climbing into the long, low car beside him Nancy felt like her old self. An early morning fog had curled her bright hair into soft ringlets that framed her impudent, laughing face in a halo of burnished gold. But now the sun shone, bright and warm . . . February . . . almost spring. . . .

A new year . . . new promise . . . off with the old, on with the new. . . . A new world of luxury, of fast cars, fine horses, lovely gowns. . . . Jack driving expertly, swiftly looked at her and laughed. A real laugh, full of the joy of living. Jack drove faster than ever. Nancy slumped in her seat, humming, watching the telegraph poles fly past.

The stock farm, Eagle Ranch, was on the highway, a short two hours from town. A high board fence screened it from the road, and the gate was locked. But once inside you came upon grassy, rolling meadows, trim white buildings, and the perfectly tended private race track.

"Like it?" he grinned.

"Oh, Jack! It's—it's perfect!" "Wait till you see the Nevada property. . . . but I've got some promising ponies here—"

They waded through high, wet grass. The stables loomed ahead. Want to ride?"

Did she? Nancy ached to get into a saddle. "But I didn't bring any riding clothes—"

Never mind, there were plenty in the house.

To whom did they belong? Nancy wondered, pulling on a boot. Powder, brushes, rows of silken gowns. . . . Anita's Beamer's? Surely Mrs. Garfield wouldn't have all this.

They rode through meadows yellow with flowering mustard, over soft dirt roads, around the race track . . . fast . . . faster . . .

Nancy's hair was flying, her cheeks were scarlet. Once she asked, "But where is Mrs. Garfield?"

"Drop that curb!" Jack shouted. "Just a firm hand on the snaffle—there, that's fine. You'll make a horsewoman yet."

Nancy glowed. She was riding Eagle Moon Maid, by the great hunter, Diarmuid, out of the famous French line. Jack's most promising hunter . . . think of it! Riding Moon Maid . . .

Long before they were tired it was dusk.

"Hurry!" Jack cautioned. "You can't keep these temperamental chink cooks waiting!"

"Six minutes!" Panting, tingling with excitement, Nancy slammed the door of the pretty bedroom behind her, and pulled off her riding things.

She had brought her rose crepe dinner dress . . . now where was the belt? Out came everything in the suitcase. Powder, silk stockings, her little satin slippers . . .

The bath water running drowned out the sound at first. Then she thought she imagined it. But it got louder. There was no longer any doubt. Someone was tapping at the door.

"Nancy—can't you hear me?"

It was Jack.

DOCTORS SHOW QUICK WAY TO END COLDS

Many Here Helped by Pleasant Hospital Method Doctors Advise For Home Use

More and more East Liverpool people, like Edward B. Russell, are finding how quickly colds may now be ended by a pleasant hospital method which doctors advise for home use.

The sudden change in weather recently caused Mr. Russell to catch a severe cold. He neglected to do anything about it until congestion started spreading so fast that he became alarmed.

Acting on the advice of his doctor, Mr. Russell then started taking double doses of Ayer's Pectoral—a hospital certified compound of wild cherry, torpin hydrate, etc., which physicians have named as the best of different widely known methods tested for head colds, coughs and chest colds. Relief began quickly, the doctor reports. Within a few hours after the first dose of Ayer's Pectoral, congestion had cleared up rapidly. That night he slept comfortably and in just a day or so examination showed that all trace of the cold was gone.

Note:—See other cases reported daily in this paper, all certified by the attending physician.

Ayer's Pectoral was hospital certified as the best of different widely used methods tested for head colds, coughs and chest colds because it gave the quickest, surest relief—with absolute safety. It is now featured by all leading druggists.

Less Coreco PENNSYLECT Motor Oil is obtained from a barrel of Pennsylvania Crude Petroleum than any other brand of motor oil. All of the non-heat resisting and non-viscous lubricating oil is removed at the refinery.

In volume this amounts to about one-third and therefore Coreco PENNSYLECT Motor Oil gives you 33 1/3% greater lubricating value by the removal of the non-heat resisting and non-viscous portions of the crude petroleum instead of allowing them to remain in the motor oil and burn up in your automobile.

That's why Coreco gives six quarts of service in every gallon.

Mr. Hess, the attorney she had engaged, was supposed to be one of the best. But he was so slow . . . if only something would happen. "Come up to the stock farm over the week-end," Jack suggested. "There won't be any detectives, imaginary or otherwise, to bother you there. I have to go up and look over the yearlings anyway. Come on, take a chance!" He really didn't expect her to come. She looked at him dreadingly, her pansy-soft eyes far away. . . . "Jack, I'd just love to. I'm so sick of the city, never going anywhere exciting . . . but how could I go?" "Why not?"

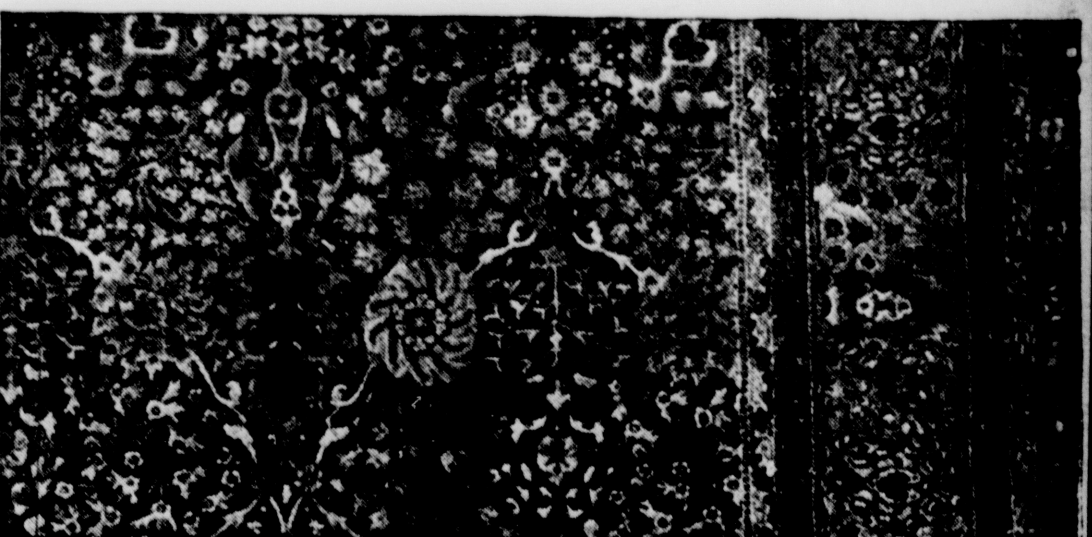

"Well, it would be all right, of course, but who'd believe it? No. . . . It's impossible. . . . "Why is it impossible? In the first place no one is going to know. And in the second place, if they do find out it's all right. The man, Roger, Jack Garfield, has his family there. Mrs. Garfield is a fine little woman, used to be a school teacher, very refined. You can be visiting her! They've got two kids, and eighteen dogs and seventeen cats and Mrs. Garfield belongs to the Methodist church. Now I ask you, what could be more respectable than that?" It might be respectable, but it wouldn't seem so if it were found out. Nancy knew that. Well! That made it more exciting! Meeting Jack on Saturday morning, climbing into the long, low car beside him Nancy felt like her old self. An early morning fog had curled her bright hair into soft ringlets that framed her impudent, laughing face in a halo of burnished gold. But now the sun shone, bright and warm . . . February . . . almost spring. . . . A new year . . . new promise . . . off with the old, on with the new. . . . A new world of luxury, of fast cars, fine horses, lovely gowns. . . . Jack, driving expertly, swiftly looked at her and laughed. A real laugh, full of the joy of living. Jack drove faster than ever. Nancy slumped in her seat, humming, watching the telegraph poles fly past. The stock farm, Eagle Ranch, was on the highway, a short two hours from town. A high board fence screened it from the road, and the gate was locked. But once inside you came upon grassy, rolling meadows, trim white buildings, and the perfectly tended private race track. "Like it?" he grinned. "Oh, Jack! It's-it's perfect!" "Wait till you see the Nevada property. . . . but I've got some promising ponies here—" They waded through high, wet grass. The stables loomed ahead. "Want to ride?" Did she? Nancy ached to get into a saddle. "But I didn't bring any riding clothes—" Never mind, there were plenty in the house. To whom did they belong? Nancy wondered, pulling on a boot. Powder, brushes, rows of silken gowns. . . . Anita's Beamer's? Surely Mrs. Garfield wouldn't have all this. They rode through meadows yellow with flowering mustard, over soft dirt roads, around the race track . . . fast . . . faster . . . "Nancy's hair was flying, her cheeks were scarlet. Once she asked, "But where is Mrs. Garfield?" "Drop that curb!" Jack shouted. "Just a firm hand on the snaffle—there, that's fine. You'll make a horsewoman yet." Nancy glowed. She was riding Eagle Moon Maid, by the great hunter, Diarmuid, out of the famous French line. Jack's most promising hunter. . . . think of it! Riding Moon Maid . . . Long before they were tired it

Many Here Helped by Pleasant Hospital Method Doctors Advise For Home Use

More and more East Liverpool people, like Edward B. Russell, are finding how quickly colds may now be ended by a pleasant hospital method which doctors advise for home use. The sudden change in weather recently caused Mr. Russell to catch a severe cold. He neglected to do anything about it until congestion started spreading so fast that he became alarmed. Acting on the advice of his doctor, Mr. Russell then started taking double doses of Ayer's Pectoral—a hospital certified compound of wild cherry, terpin hydrate, etc., which physicians have named as the best of different widely known methods tested for head colds, coughs and chest colds. Relief began quickly, the doctor reports. Within a few hours after the first dose of Ayer's Pectoral, congestion had cleared up rapidly. That night he slept comfortably and in just a day or so examination showed that all trace of the cold was gone. Note—See other cases reported daily in this paper—all certified by the attending physician. Ayer's Pectoral was hospital certified as the best of different widely used methods tested for head colds, coughs and chest colds because it gave the quickest, surest relief—with absolute safety. It is now featured by all leading druggists.

Less Coreco PENNSYLECT Motor Oil is obtained from a barrel of Pennsylvania Crude Petroleum than any other brand of motor oil. All of the non-heat resisting and non-viscous lubricating oil is removed at the refinery. In volume this amounts to about one-third and therefore Coreco PENNSYLECT Motor Oil gives you 33 1/3% greater lubricating value by the removal of the non-heat resisting and non-viscous portions of the crude petroleum instead of allowing them to remain in the motor oil and burn up in your automobile. That's why Coreco gives six quarts of service in every gallon.

A Special Grade For Winter Use

Coreco PENNSYLECT Motor Oil is made in a special grade for Winter use—every 100% Pennsylvania feature is retained yet the oil will flow freely at Winter temperatures. Coreco PENNSYLECT Low Cold Test Motor Oil brings you Summer efficiency on the coldest day in Winter.

Day of Thanksgiving

In keeping with proclamations of President Hoover and Governor Cooper, Ohioans will join with the nation tomorrow in thanking God for the many blessings bestowed during the year and petitioning Him for health, happiness and prosperity during the coming months.

Crowds should tax the capacity of six East Liverpool churches in which services will be held—First United Presbyterian, St. Aloysius Catholic, St. John's Lutheran and St. Stephen's Episcopal in the downtown zone and the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal and St. Ann's Catholic in East End. For God has prospered our country, state, county and city and nearly all the individuals in it. And as has been pointed out frequently, we are far better off than the people of many lands who labor and strive harder than we do, and are no less virtuous. Our troubles are mostly imaginary.

"Make us truly thankful" will be heard millions of times on Thanksgiving day, and it should be. There is surely cause for gratitude in the heart of America.

And notwithstanding the allurements of many holiday attractions, let's not forget piety tomorrow. Go to church in the morning, then spend the rest of the day in pleasure if you wish.

It Will Dwarf All Bridges

If the proposed Liberty bridge to span the Narrows at the entrance to New York harbor and connect Brooklyn with Staten Island, thus supplying the essential link to connect Long Island with New Jersey, is constructed according to the prepared plans, it will dwarf all other bridges in existence or in course of construction. Its main span is 1,500 feet in length, exceeding by 1,000 feet that of the Hudson river bridge now building. Its main cables, forty-eight inches in diameter, each containing 48,000 wires of a textile strength each of 240,000 pounds to the square inch, are to be suspended from steel towers 800 feet high that the span may have a clear height of 235 feet above high water and not impede the passage of the highest-masted steamships. The estimated cost is $60,000,000.

A radical departure from present bridges will be the crowning of its towers with observation balconies from which a splendid view of New York harbor and its surroundings may be obtained. A carillon will ring out by day anthems of liberty to all entering the New York gateway to our land and mighty beacon lights will throw their beams far out to sea at night.

Such a bridge would prove a mighty undertaking, architecturally and mechanically, as well as in a financial way, but the present is the age of great undertakings, and as there is need of this connecting link and its construction is held feasible by engineers, there is no reason to doubt that it will be an actuality of the near future.

Unique Case

A woman unique among millions was discovered when Mrs. Alice Roberston, former member of congress from Oklahoma, discountenanced a movement to give her a pension. The reason that she offers is almost unheard of among the pensioners of the government. She is able to make her own living.

By this strange attitude, Mrs. Roberston has taken a stand unsupported by precedent. If a pension be regarded as support derived from public funds, whether sufficient to support the receiver in whole or in part, the attitude of this ex-congresswoman is contrary to that of the great majority of pensioners.

In the first place, there are soldiers and sailors, their widows, and dependents. In 1928 the United States was still paying fourteen pensions which originated in the war of 1812, and $49 which originated in the Mexican war, not to mention such recent events as the expeditions against Geronimo and Sitting Bull and the Civil war. There are 491,000 names of soldiers and their widows on the pension rolls and this figure does not include any war risk insurance payments being made on account of the World war.

The soldiers and sailors are only a handful of the country's pensioners. To their number must be added all farmers since the appropriation of half a billion for their relief, in addition to the ordinary subsidy through the department of agriculture. And to that vast total must be added those manufacturers who profit directly through the existence of a protective tariff.

There is no case against the pension, which in most cases is just and necessary. But, the remarkable thing is that a pensioner has been discovered who is not making a determined effort to get more out of the public fund. Instead she clings to the theory that the public owes her nothing and nothing is exactly what she proposes to accept from it. It is a most remarkable case viewed from any angle.

With all this new construction being started to insure prosperity, don't forget to buy the boy a set of building blocks.

Only a couple of days more, and bang will go a million fasts.

Mr. Babson should have a heart. Any man of his age must know that nothing makes the United States senate so mad as to be told to shut up and to home.

HASKIN LETTER DAILY

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—The government's revenues from income taxes being always one year behind the income of the people who pay them, the treasury is in good shape and able to recommend to congress a reduction of $160,000,000 in federal taxes to become effective on 1929 incomes. Collections this year are on incomes realized in 1928.

The stock market collapse doubtless will reduce the incomes of a good many thousands of persons for the latter part of 1929, and, unless they recoup their losses, for succeeding years. Nevertheless, the secretary of the treasury has suggested the reduction. Probably no stronger expression of confidence in the fundamental stability of the nation could be made.

The basis of this confidence is that the real income of the nation arises from productive enterprise and not from speculation. Trading on the stock exchange encourages industry and furnishes a market wherein industrial enterprises may raise capital. Speculation in itself produces nothing save indirectly. It is comparable, in its purpose, to horse racing. To make stocks more valuable on the exchange prompts industrialists to make bigger profits. It is interesting to consider in this connection that in the last one or two thousand years only a few seconds have been clipped off the time required by a horse to run a mile, in spite of all the expert horse breeding and all the race courses in the world but stock markets have stimulated industry to a point where production is beyond the dreams of Aladdin.

So, in spite of the ups and downs of the market itself, the industry on which the market is based remains in existence and continues to produce.

On this fact the treasury builds when it recommends a reduction in federal taxes. The first quarter of the new fiscal year 1930 has just been passed. In that quarter, federal tax collections were $128,595,835 in excess of collection for the first quarter of the fiscal year 1929. No such increase could have been realized had not the wheels of industry been humming and to a profitable tune. Where there are no profits there are no taxes.

At the end of the fiscal year 1929, last June 30, it appeared that the treasury held a surplus of $184,787,935. On the last day of the fiscal year the treasury paid to the railroads large sums which had accrued as mail pay. Technical questions regarding the precise sums due had held up these payments. As a matter of fact the money represented back pay from 1925 onward. Instead of distributing the money paid over the several fiscal years in which it actually was due, the aggregate was taken out of the fiscal year 1929. Had it not been for this book-keeping phenomenon, the treasury surplus would have been enough to produce the wealth. Treasury officials

The soundness of business is nowhere better illustrated than by these tax returns. There had been big tax rate reductions in 1928 but, nevertheless, even the reduced rates brought money in so rapidly that receipts have far exceeded expenditures and this in spite of increased congressional appropriations.

To be sure it cannot be said that the effects of the stock market collapse have been reflected as yet in tax collections. They have not. But it also should be remembered that quotations are still well above what they were in 1927 when the treasury piled up a record surplus of $635,000,000. Of course rates were higher but, even so, business was brisk enough to produce the wealth. Treasury officials keep close track of the trend of business and the actuaries are constantly watching business trends.

Since the stock market collapse it has been estimated that the treasury surplus next June, at present rates, will be about $250,000,000. This takes into account shrinkage of incomes and some reduced business activity as the result of the stock market tumble. Were figures projected on the basis of the collections for the first three months of the 1930 fiscal year, a surplus of $435,000,000 would be shown, equalling the 1927 record, although the rates have been much lower.

Unofficial, though competent, estimates have placed at $300,000,000 the additional income tax which the treasury would collect for the last year's gains of stock exchange speculators had they materialized. Inasmuch as there has been such a recession in the prices of stocks and that a horde of traders lost their paper profits before they had the wit to sell, a large part of this prospective gain and concomitant prospective government revenue has been lost.

Questions and Answers.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Q. Is the sole which is a popular edible fish in England, the same as the sole in this country? G. S. A. The two are not the same. Many travelers think that the sole served in England and on the continent is superior to the fish of that name sold in American markets.

Q. Is there such a position as deputy air sheriff? N. M.

A. Charles O. Guy, representative of the Mason Dixon Air Lines, and in charge of its port at Lima, Ohio, was recently appointed a Deputy Air Sheriff of Ohio.

Q. Did Abraham Lincoln believe in the Bible? C. W. T.

A. The following statement was made by Abraham Lincoln to a friend: "That the Almighty does make use of human agencies and directly intervenes in human affairs is one of the plainest statements of the Bible. I have so many evidences of His direction, so many instances in which I have been controlled by some other power than by my own will, that I can not doubt that this power comes from above—the character of the Bible is easily established, at least to my satisfaction."

Q. Please explain the expression, "read the riot act." G. N.

A. It means to warn or reprimand. As early as 1715 England had a statute for preventing tumultuous and riotous assemblies. The act provided that in case of twelve persons or more unlawfully assembling and disturbing the peace, an officer could make proclamation of the general provisions of the riot act and call upon them to disperse. If they failed to obey they were guilty of felony.

Since we are nearing St. Louis I had better get ready to leave the train. This Pullman towel reminds me of a kitchen towel I saw in Chicago in a department store. It had a center stripe in which was woven the name of a day of the week. There were seven towels in the set, one for each day. The idea is to be able to keep an even rate of wear on each towel, since each is used the same number of times, as well as to have an incentive to put out clean towels for the dishes each day.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—No place is so gay in summer and drear in winter as Coney Island. Like a bear, it goes into winter hibernation in late September and has the forlorn fatality of a deserted mining camp. On the depopulated streets are seen only care takers and night watchmen.

There is something eerie about the gaunt skeletons of myriad merry making devices—the loop-the-loop, the roller coaster, the spidery ferris wheel and dips of death. Acres of dead light bulbs stand like somnolent cypress sockets. And always one hears the sad, monotonous pounding of the surf.

Surf avenue is, during the season, the gaudiest thoroughfare in the world. A million people drift through it on a Fourth of July holiday. But with the arrival of the melancholy days it becomes dull and coated with a thin mist—gray and ghostly.

Those little shacks devoted to ring-the-cane-and-prize pitch games are tightly shuttered. Candy pulling machines, non cream ovens and mechanical drink mixtures are stilled. Ghostly figures, stressing social ills in wax museums are sheeted and doors are padlocked.

Merry go rounds have been shorn of their brightly gilded chargers and mechanical orchestras are swathed in tarpaulin. Freak show banners, faded and whipped by wind and rain, are flopping strips. Left over dogs roam in packs and howl at night.

Hundreds of "geese joints," or hot dog stands, are stark in emptiness. Coach show platforms are piled high in front of Steeplechase. The concessionaires, like birds, have winged to warmer climes to await the reopening of the showman's paradise.

Nearly all the tiny bungalows are closed although here are a sprinkling of faithful followers who remain in Coney in all seasons. Some of these are the museum "exhibits," who do not care to travel and who find Coney a pleasant cloister during the off season.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

As I write this my ears are made glad by the ripplings of a beautiful stream. Here I am in the back yard of the home where all my young days were spent.

It takes some weeks for these articles to get to the printer and then to you. For this reason they are prepared in advance of the time you read them.

So here I sit and project my mind forward to the frosts of November and the joys of Thanksgiving day. You will get this message on the day preceding this, our first national holiday.

It is easy for me to picture what will take place on Thanksgiving, 1929. In Michigan the weather will be cold and blustery by late November. I have known this stream to be frozen over before Thanksgiving. Many a time I have adjusted my skates right where I am writing.

In imagination I can hear the gobbling and grumbling in the barnyard around the hill. The brothers and sisters of the head of the turkey flock are wondering where their kingly brother has gone.

But I am not wondering! I can catch the tantalizing aroma of that baking turkey! As mother opens the oven door to baste the bird the perfume rushes out to fill the air with appetizing fumes.

What a day Thanksgiving was! If the family gathering was not in the house up the hill it was held at grandfather's farm, two miles away. I can never forget those glorious holidays. Uncles and aunts, cousins by the score, and grandmother, beaming on the group! What a memory!

We need these days of jollification. Life must not be too staid and stupid an experience if we are to be happy and glowing with health. As I view it, it is a sad mistake to make such a business of life that a holiday seems a "waste of time."

The race is not to the swift always. But even though the goal is a fortune, what difference does it make if you miss it?

As a matter of fact, however, you are more likely to win if you conserve your precious body. Each of us need and must have an abundance of recreation.

The very word "recreation" means "re-creation." We must have time and leisure to permit the muscles and nerves to store up new strength. There must be frequent recreations if we are to live long and have the physical endurance to fight life's battle.

Then, on the spiritual side: Isn't it right, meet and our bounden duty to stay our earthly affairs long enough on occasions to offer up to Almighty God sincere thanks for what He has given us?

Thanksgiving day is a day for thanks to the Creator and a day to permit nature to do her work of re-creation. I trust you will live up to the highest ideals of what this day should be to you and yours.

Answers To Health Queries. Mrs. R. J. E. Q.—Will you kindly advise me whether or not it is wise to use a 2 per cent solution of _____ in the nostrils every day (being careful not to swallow it). I find it helpful for a sinus condition, using just a drop or two at a time.

A.—No, I do not advise it. If you have sinus trouble your doctor will outline the necessary treatment. A catarrhal condition can be relieved by a cleansing spray. For full particulars send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

M. S. Q.—Are bowlegs hereditary? A.—No.

V. M. W. Q.—What should a girl of 15, 5 ft. 2 in., tall, weigh?

A.—What should a girl of 23, 5 ft. 2 in., tall, weigh?

A.—They should weigh respectively: 114 and 122 pounds.

Day of Thanksgiving

In keeping with proclamations of President Hoover and Governor Cooper, Ohioans will join with the nation tomorrow in thanking God for the many blessings bestowed during the year and petitioning Him for health, happiness and prosperity during the coming months.

Crowds should tax the capacity of six East Liverpool churches in which services will be held—First United Presbyterian, St. Aloysius Catholic, St. John's Lutheran and St. Stephen's Episcopal in the downtown zone and the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal and St. Ann's Catholic in East End. For God has prospered our country, state, county and city and nearly all the individuals in it. And as has been pointed out frequently, we are far better off than the people of many lands who labor and strive harder than we do, and are no less virtuous. Our troubles are mostly imaginary.

"Make us truly thankful" will be heard millions of times on Thanksgiving day, and it should be. There is surely cause for gratitude in the heart of America.

And notwithstanding the allurements of many holiday attractions, let's not forget piety tomorrow. Go to church in the morning, then spend the rest of the day in pleasure if you wish.

It Will Dwarf All Bridges

If the proposed Liberty bridge to span the Narrows at the entrance to New York harbor and connect Brooklyn with Staten Island, thus supplying the essential link to connect Long Island with New Jersey, is constructed according to the prepared plans, it will dwarf all other bridges in existence or in course of construction. Its main span is 1,500 feet in length, exceeding by 1,000 feet that of the Hudson river bridge now building. Its main cables, forty-eight inches in diameter, each containing 48,000 wires of a textile strength each of 240,000 pounds to the square inch, are to be suspended from steel towers 800 feet high that the span may have a clear height of 235 feet above high water and not impede the passage of the highest-masted steamships. The estimated cost is $60,000,000.

A radical departure from present bridges will be the crowning of its towers with observation balconies from which a splendid view of New York harbor and its surroundings may be obtained. A carillon will ring out by day anthems of liberty to all entering the New York gateway to our land and mighty beacon lights will throw their beams far out to sea at night.

Such a bridge would prove a mighty undertaking, architecturally and mechanically, as well as in a financial way, but the present is the age of great undertakings, and as there is need of this connecting link and its construction is held feasible by engineers, there is no reason to doubt that it will be an actuality of the near future.

Unique Case

A woman unique among millions was discovered when Mrs. Alice Roberson, former member of congress from Oklahoma, discontinued a movement to give her a pension. The reason that she offers is almost unheard of among the pensioners of the government. She is able to make her own living.

By this strange attitude, Mrs. Roberson has taken a stand unsupported by precedent. If a pension be regarded as support derived from public funds, whether sufficient to support the receiver in whole or in part, the attitude of this excongresswoman is contrary to that of the great majority of pensioners.

In the first place, there are soldiers and sailors, their wives, widows and dependents. In 1928 the United States was still paying fourteen pensions which originated in the war of 1812, and $49 which originated in the Mexican war, not to mention such recent events as the expeditions against Geronimo and Sitting Bull and the Civil war. There are 491,000 names of soldiers and their widows on the pension rolls and this figure does not include any war risk insurance payments being made on account of the World war.

The soldiers and sailors are only a handful of the country's pensioners. To their number must be added all farmers since the appropriation of half a billion for their relief, in addition to the ordinary subsidy through the department of agriculture. And to that vast total must be added those manufacturers who profit directly through the existence of a protective tariff.

There is no case against the pension, which in most cases is just and necessary. But, the remarkable thing is that a pensioner has been discovered who is not making a determined effort to get more out of the public fund. Instead she clings to the theory that the public owes her nothing and nothing is exactly what she proposes to accept from it. It is a most remarkable case viewed from any angle.

With all this new construction being started to insure prosperity, don't forget to buy the boy a set of building blocks.

Only a couple of days more, and bang will go a million fasts.

Mr. Babson should have a heart. Any man of his age must know that nothing makes the United States prosper so much as to be told to shut up.

HASKIN LETTER DAILY

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—The government's revenues from income taxes being always one year behind the income of the people who pay them, the treasury is in good shape and able to recommend to congress a reduction of $169,999,999 in federal taxes to become effective on 1929 incomes. Collections this year are on incomes realized in 1928.

The stock market collapse doubtless will reduce the incomes of a good many thousands of persons for the latter part of 1929, and, unless they recoup their losses, for succeeding years. Nevertheless, the secretary of the treasury has suggested the reduction. Probably no stronger expression of confidence in the fundamental stability of the nation could be made.

The basis of this confidence is that the real income of the nation arises from productive enterprise and not from speculation. Trading on the stock exchange encourages industry and furnishes a market for industrial enterprises may raise capital. Speculation in itself produces nothing save indirectly. It is comparable, in its purposes, to horse racing. To make stocks more valuable on the exchange prompts industrialists to make bigger profits. It is interesting to consider in this connection that in the last one or two thousand years only a few seconds have been clipped off the time required by a horse to run a mile, in spite of all the expert horse breeding and all the race courses in the world but stock markets have stimulated industry to a point where production is beyond the dreams of Aladdin.

So, in spite of the ups and downs of the market itself, the industry on which the market is based remains in existence and continues to produce.

On this fact the treasury builds when it recommends a reduction in federal taxes. The first quarter of the new fiscal year 1929 has just been passed. In that quarter, federal tax collections were $128,595,835 in excess of collection for the first quarter of the fiscal year 1928. No such increase could have been realized had not the wheels of industry been humming and to a profitable tune. Where there are no profits there are no taxes.

At the end of the fiscal year 1929, last June 30, it appeared that the treasury held a surplus of $184,787,935. On the last day of the fiscal year the treasury paid to the railroads large sums which had accrued as mail pay. Technical questions regarding the precise sums due had held up these payments. As a matter of fact the money represented back pay from 1925 onward. Instead of distributing the money paid over the several fiscal years in which it actually was due, the aggregate was taken out of the fiscal year 1929. Had it not been for this book-keeping phenomenon, the treasury surplus would have been enough to produce the wealth. Treasury officials' soundness of business is nowhere better illustrated than by their tax returns. There had been big tax rate reductions in 1928 but, nevertheless, even the reduced rates brought money in so rapidly that receipts have far exceeded congressional appropriations and this in spite of increased congressional appropriations.

To be sure it cannot be said that the effects of the stock market collapse have been reflected as yet in tax collections. They have not. But it also should be remembered that quotations are still well above what they were in 1927 when the treasury piled up a record surplus of $635,000,000. Of course rates were higher but, even so, business was brisk enough to produce the wealth. Treasury officials keep close track of the trend of business and the actuaries are constantly watching business trends.

Since the stock market collapse it has been estimated that the treasury surplus next June, at present rates, will be about $250,000,000. This takes in to account shrinkage of incomes and some reduced business activity as the result of the stock market tumble. Were figures projected on the basis of the collections for the first three months of the 1929 fiscal year, a surplus of $635,000,000 would be shown, equaling the 1927 record, although the rates have been much lower.

Unofficial, though competent, estimates have placed at $300,000,000 the additional income tax which the treasury would collect for the last year's gains of stock exchange speculators had they materialized. Inasmuch as there has been such a recession in the prices of stocks and that a horde of traders lost their paper profits before they had the wit to sell, a large part of this prospective gain and concomitant prospective government revenue has been lost.

Questions and Answers.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Q. Is the sole which is a popular edible fish in England, the same as the sole in this country? G. S. A. The two are not the same. Many travelers think that the sole served in England and on the continent is superior to the fish of that name sold in American markets.

Q. Is there such a position as deputy air sheriff? N. M.

A. Charles O. Gay, representative of the Mason-Dixon Air Lines, and in charge of its port at Lima, Ohio, was recently appointed a Deputy Air Sheriff of Ohio.

Q. Did Abraham Lincoln believe in the Bible? C. W. T.

A. The following statement was made by Abraham Lincoln to a friend: "That the Almighty does make use of human agencies and directly intervenes in human affairs is one of the plainest statements of the Bible. I have so many evidences of His direction, so many instances in which I have been controlled by some other power than by my own will, that I can not doubt that this power comes from above—the character of the Bible is easily established, at least to my satisfaction."

Q. Please explain the expression, "read the riot act." G. N.

A. It means to warn or reprimand. As early as 1715 England had a statute for preventing tumultuous and riotous assemblies. The act provided that in case of twelve persons or more unlawfully assembling and disturbing the peace, an officer could make proclamation of the general provisions of the riot act and call upon them to disperse. If they failed to obey they were guilty of felony.

Since we are nearing St. Louis I had better get ready to leave the train. This Pullman towel reminds me of a kitchen towel I saw in Chicago in a department store. It had a center stripe in which was woven the name of a day of the week. There were seven towels in the set, one for each day. The idea is to be able to keep an even rate of wear on each towel, since each is used the same number of times, as well as to have an incentive to put out clean towels for the dishes each day.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—No place is so gay in summer and drear in winter as Coney Island. Like a bear, it goes into winter hibernation in late September and has the forlorn fatality of a deserted mining camp. On the depopulated streets are seen only care takers and night watchmen.

There is something eerie about the gaunt skeletons of myriad merry making devices — the loop-the-loop, the roller coaster, the spidery Ferris wheel and dips of death. Acres of dead light bulbs stand like somnolent eyeless sockets. And all ways one hears the sad, monotonous pounding of the surf.

Surf avenues is, during the season, the grandest thoroughfare in the world. A million people drift through it on a fourth of July holiday. But with the arrival of the melancholy days it becomes dull and coated with a thin mist—gray and ghostly.

Those little shacks devoted to ring-the-cane-and-prize pitch games are tightly shuttered. Candy pulling machines, pop corn ovens and mechanical drink mixtures are still. Ghostly figures stressing social life in wax museums are sheeted and doleful.

Merry-go-rounds have been shorn of their brightly colored chargers and mechanical orchestras are swathed in tarpaulin. Freak show banners, faded and whipped by wind and rain, are flopping strips. Left over dogs roam in packs and howl at night.

Hundreds of "geese" points, or hot dog stands, are stark in emptiness. Coach show platforms are piled high in front of Steeplechase. The concessionaires, like birds, have winged to warmer climes to await the re-opening of the showman's paradise.

Nearly all the tiny bungalows are closed although here are a sprinkling of faithful followers who remain in Coney in all seasons. Some of these are the museum "exhibits," who do not care to travel and who find Coney a pleasant cloister during the off season.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

As I write this my ears are made glad by the ripplings of a beautiful stream. Here I am in the back yard of the home where all my young days were spent.

It takes some weeks for these articles to get to the printer and then to you. For this reason they are prepared in advance of the time you read them.

So here I sit and project my mind forward to the frosts of November and the joys of Thanksgiving day. You will get this message on the day preceding this, our first national holiday.

It is easy for me to picture what will take place on Thanksgiving, 1929. In Michigan the weather will be cold and blustery by late November. I have known this stream to be frozen over before Thanksgiving. Many a time I have adjusted my skates right where I am writing.

In imagination I can hear the gobbling and grumbling in the barnyard around the hill. The brothers and sisters of the head of the turkey flock are wondering where their kingly brother has gone.

But I am not wondering! I can catch the tantalizing aroma of that baking turkey! As mother opens the oven door to baste the bird the perfume rushes out to fill the air with appetizing fumes.

What a day Thanksgiving was! If the family gathering was not in the home up the hill it was held at grandfather's farm, two miles away. I can never forget those glorious holidays. Uncles and aunts, cousins by the score, and grandmother, beaming on the group! What a memory!

We need these days of jollification. Life must not be too staid and stupid an experience if we are to be happy and glowing with health. As I view it, it is a sad mistake to make such a business of life that a holiday seems a "waste of time."

The race is not to the swift always. But even though the goal is a fortune, what difference does it make if you miss it?

As a matter of fact, however, you are more likely to win if you conserve your precious body. Each of us need and must have an abundance of recreation.

The very word "recreation" means "re-creation." We must have time and leisure to permit the muscles and nerves to store up new strength. There must be frequent recreations if we are to live long and have the physical endurance to fight life's battle.

Then, on the spiritual side, isn't it right, meet and our bounden duty to stay our earthly affairs long enough on occasions to offer up to Almighty God sincere thanks for what He has given us?

Thanksgiving day is a day for thanks to the Creator and a day to permit nature to do her work of recreation. I trust you will live up to the highest ideals of what this day should be to you and yours.

ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

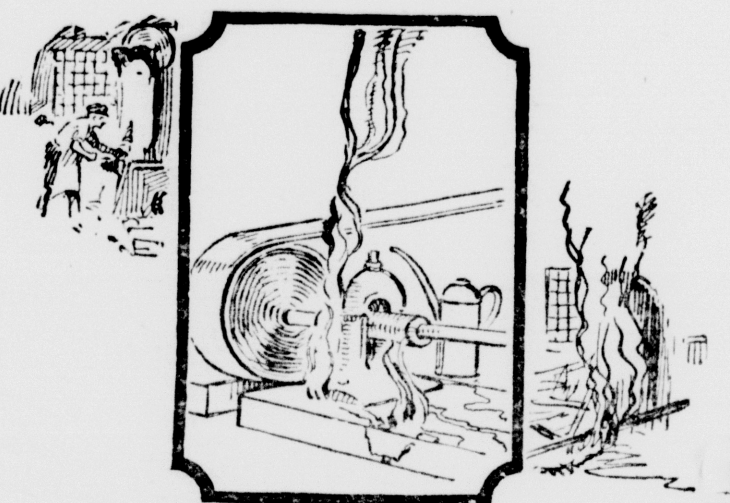

I'm going to ask you for some advice. I've been going with a fellow for eight months now. I think a lot of him, mother does not approve of him because some time ago we had an argument and he hit me twice, but it was my fault. She has tried every way to part us but without avail. This fellow thinks a lot of me; he's shown it in every way. He intends to get me an engagement ring for Christmas. He would like to get married now, but he doesn't know how he could afford to, not until he gets a better position. But my mother can't see it that way; she thinks that he ought to marry me now, why wait? She means quit or get married. Don't you think that he means all right about waiting? I'm deep in my teens. He's three years my senior. I'm waiting patiently for your advice.

UNDECIDED. Naturally, your mother would not approve of a young man who hit her daughter, however much provoked he might have been. Perhaps the young man would have wider opportunities if he could leave the smaller town for a larger city. Then, too, absence would make you definitely decide as to your real feelings. Both of you are very young yet, and so there is not much risk, but much good to be obtained by a little delay and a chance for the young man to improve his position.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: What I want to know is this: Is it proper for a lady friend to come to your home when you are away? My husband told her I was not at home so she came in, sat down and said she would wait. Don't you think she should have gone away and returned later?

ANXIOUS. If the woman is a casual acquaintance, then I would say she was guilty of a breach of etiquette, if, however, she was a friend of long standing, or some one whom you know very well, there was no harm at all in her waiting for you.

EVERY BUSINESS

—in the East Liverpool district as elsewhere—presents its distinct financial problems, but any business can learn from the experience of others.

The experience of The First National Bank, which has served this territory helpfully for 55 years, has contributed to the success of business houses in this district.

The Theaters

American Books "Gold Diggers"

And now the gold digger is glorified in song!

In "Gold Diggers of Broadway," Warner Bros. 100 per cent natural color, singing, talking, dancing Vitaphone comedy special in technicolor which comes to the American theater on Monday, a large musical revue, which besides the all-star cast includes a dazzling beauty chorus of 100, is presented as part of the colorful background of the story.

One of the song hits of the musical revue is "The Song of the Gold Diggers." Ann Pennington, famous Broadway dancing and singing star, sings the number, "The Song of the Gold Diggers," and eight others, were written especially for this Vitaphone production by Al Dubin and Joe Burke, well known composers of popular melodies.

In addition to Miss Pennington, the all-star cast of "Gold Diggers of Broadway," includes Lilyan Tashman, Conway Tearle, Nick Lucas, Albert Gran, Nancy Welton, William Bakewell, Helen Foster, Winnie Lightner, Julia Swyne Gordon, Gertrude Short and others.

Dorothy Mackaill Heads State Cast

Dorothy Mackaill, who gave such an admirable portrayal as the circus performer in "The Barker," will be seen again in another "hard-boiled" role in "The Great Divide," her new First National picture coming to the State theater.

Miss Mackaill now plays an emancipated modern girl, whose "whoop-idea" ideas of life clash with those of the man she both hates and loves.

Speed, Suspense Mark "Big News"

Speed, excitement, suspense and humor are the four prime characteristics of "Big News," a new Pathe all dialogue film which will open at the American theater tomorrow.

"Big News," might well be described as one hectic day in a newspaper office. With a time lapse of only 12 hours, the story is crammed with more thrills than are the lot of many lifetimes. Nor are they hung on loosely, but developed as part of a logical plot which deals with the effort of a reporter on a big metropolitan daily to get the "low-down" on a band of liquor and narcotic dealers.

Robert Armstrong has the featured role of "Big News," as Steve Banks, who has plenty of personal peccadillos as well as a keen nose for news. The combination of gentility with a light touch of cynicism which have helped Bob along the road to fame in former pictures is said to have plenty of scope in "Big News."

Carol Lombard, who plays the feminine lead opposite Armstrong, is a girl whose gorgeous blonde beauty is augmented with real dramatic ability. Cupid Ainsworth, a hefty comedienne, is a riot as the conductor of an "Advice to the Lovelorn," while her wise-cracking comes under the heading of brilliant ban mots.

Hobart Bosworth "Hurricane" Star

Two sea dogs of the screen are united in "Hurricane," the Columbia all-talking epic of the sea, which comes to the Ceramic theater tomorrow. They are Ralph Ince, director, and Hobart Bosworth, star. These two have been associated with sea dramas so long that it is difficult to think of one without thinking of the other.

Bosworth is responsible for the first sea picture ever brought to the screen. It was the sensation of its day and in proportion to its cost, made more money than any other picture has ever made. In every sea story in which he has appeared, Bosworth has been successful. "The Blood Ship," selected by Bosworth as excellent screen material and produced by Columbia was among the best pictures of its year.

Ince is noted for his work both as an actor and director in "Shanghai," and "Brood of Sea."

Exponents of the virile type of he-man that is supposed to be the product of the sea, Ince and Bosworth, make a combination that has produced in "Hurricane" one of the most fascinating pictures of the year.

American Books "Gold Diggers"

And now the gold digger is glorified in song! In "Gold Diggers of Broadway," Warner Bros. 100 per cent natural color, singing, talking, dancing Vitaphone comedy special in technical color which comes to the American theater on Monday, a large musical revue, which beside the all-star cast includes a dazzling beauty chorus of 100, is presented as part of the colorful background of the story.

One of the song hits of the musical revue is "The Song of the Gold Diggers," Ann Pennington, famous Broadway dancing and singing star, sings the number, "The Song of the Gold Diggers," and eight others, were written especially for this Vitaphone production by Al Dubin and Joe Burke, well known composers of popular melodies.

In addition to Miss Pennington, the all-star cast of "Gold Diggers of Broadway," includes Lilyan Tashman, Conway Tearle, Nick Lucas, Albert Gran, Nancy Wellesford, William Bakewell, Helen Foster, Winnie Lightner, Julia Sayne Gordon, Gertrude Short and others.

Dorothy Mackaill Heads State Cast

Dorothy Mackaill, who gave such an admirable portrayal as the circus performer in "The Barker," will be seen again in another "hard-boiled" role in "The Great Divide," her new First National picture coming to the State theater. Miss Mackaill now plays an emancipated modern girl, whose "whoopie" ideas of life clash with those of the man she both hates and loves. The blonde star has made a great success in her recent pictures in creating a new type of screen vamp

—a girl whose bark is worse than her bite. She played such parts in "Hard to Get" and in "Two Weeks Off."

"The Great Divide" is an adaptation of William Vaughn Moody's famous stage classic. The story is laid in the beautiful mountain country of Arizona, and the picture is embellished with striking scenic photography.

Ian Keith is Miss Mackaill's leading man. Others in the cast are Myrna Loy, who portrays one of her colorful dancing roles as a half-breed Spanish girl, Lucien Littlefield, Ben Hendricks, James Ford, Creighton Hale, George Fawcett, Roy Stewart and Claude Gillingwater.

Speed, Suspense Mark "Big News"

Speed, excitement, suspense and humor are the four prime characteristics of "Big News," a new Pathe all dialogue film which will open at the American theater tomorrow.

"Big News," might well be described as one hectic day in a newspaper office. With a time lapse of only 12 hours, the story is crammed with more thrills than are the lot of many lifetimes. Nor are they hung on loosely, but developed as part of a logical plot which deals with the effort of a reporter on a big metropolitan daily to get the "low-down" on a band of liquor and narcotic dealers.

Robert Armstrong has the featured role of "Big News," as Steve Banks, who has plenty of personal peccadillos as well as a keen nose for news. The combination of gentility with a light touch of syndicalism which has helped Bob along the road to fame in former pictures is said to have plenty of scope in "Big News."

Carol Lombard, who plays the feminine lead opposite Armstrong, is a girl whose gorgeous blonde beauty is augmented with real dramatic ability. Cupid Ainsworth, a hefty comedienne, is a riot as the conductor of an "Advice to the Lovelorn," while her wise-cracking comes under the heading of brilliant ban mots.

Hobart Bosworth "Hurricane" Star

Two sea dogs of the screen are united in "Hurricane," the Columbia all-talking epic of the sea, which comes to the Ceramic theater tomorrow. They are Ralph Ince, director, and Hobart Bosworth, star. These two have been associated with sea dramas so long

When a White Collar Man "Goes Army"

Perhaps he doesn't learn a few things!

DON'T envy a man who "only has to work a typewriter."

So we were told by Mr. Solon S. Bloom of 3503 Woodbrook Avenue, Baltimore, Md., whose health began to give way because his work gave him no bodily exercise.

"I decided to get away from military training camp," says Mr. Bloom, "thinking the rough and tumble with the army would do me good for a month. I asked the doctor what to do about my condition."

"I've seen men, I've known men," he said, "I know what they eat, drink, and how they live. I know cathartics, physics, and all the ways men try to keep themselves regular—and the only two that go together well are men and Nujol. Nujol soothes and heals the membranes and expels bodily poisons normally, naturally, easily, so that you are regular as clock-work."

That was what Mr. Bloom learned when he left his typewriter and went into the army. If you are like most other people, you too will find that Nujol will make all the difference in the world in the way you feel.

Remember Nujol is not a medicine, for it contains no drugs of any kind. It is simply bodily lubrication that everybody needs.

You can get a bottle of Nujol at any good drug store, in a sealed package, for the price of a couple of good cigars. If you will start today and try it for two weeks you will agree that Nujol is the easy normal way to keep well and make a success out of your life. You will be astonished at the results!

You need the one oil made especially to meet Ohio's quick-changing temperature

New SOHIO MOTOR OIL

free from harmful wax

NEW SOHIO

An Advanced Motor Oil
First introduced last May, now still further refined for winter, this 100% paraffin base oil is a greatly improved product representing the most recent scientific developments in the manufacture of lubricants.

NEW SOHIO

Free From Harmful Wax
The harmful, clogging wax has been removed from New Sohio Motor Oil by a remarkable new process which whisks it away at 50° below zero.

NEW SOHIO

Withstands Extreme Heat
Harmful wax gives motor oil an artificial body which melts away under heat . . . but, New Sohio Motor Oil is free from harmful wax and so holds its body . . . stands up . . . even under the extreme heat reached in present day high-speed, high-compression engines.

Now Sohio Ethyl Gasoline is specially refined for cold weather — has 35% added starting power.

SOHIO Motor Oil is produced especially for the exacting lubrication requirements of motoring through a typical Ohio winter.

The amazing flexibility of this new oil—its ability to go right on lubricating no matter how often the weather changes, lifts it out of the ordinary. That is the result of a revolutionary process whereby it is freed from harmful wax, to a degree never before thought possible.

New Sohio is all oil—tougher—longer-living—a truly advanced motor lubricant for today's motors. It doesn't flinch when the mercury goes down out of sight. And in the intense heat reached in modern high-compression engines, its smooth, sturdy body keeps a perfect protective film between moving parts.

Enjoy winter motoring more than ever this year: Visit Red-White-and-Blue service stations and Sohio dealers regularly, and say "New Sohio Motor Oil." This modern motor oil is only 30c per quart and it's the same high quality wherever you get it.

THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(An Ohio Corporation)

NEW SOHIO

Withstands Extreme Cold
Wax hardens when cold . . . but New Sohio Motor Oil, free from harmful wax, will not become dangerously thick and sluggish even in extreme winter weather.

NEW SOHIO

Saves Battery Bills
The positive lubrication provided by New Sohio Motor Oil at all temperatures makes cold-weather starting much less of a drain on batteries . . . no dragging of heavy, sluggish oil.

NEW SOHIO

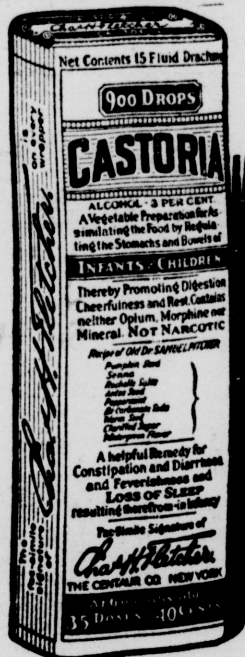

Reduces Carbon Formation
Excess wax in motor oils forms a gummy, sticky deposit which quickly turns into carbon. New Sohio Motor Oil reduces carbon formation, keeps engines cooler, guards against loss of power.

Join the Sohio Radio Treasure Hunt with the Sohioans, each Tuesday evening at 7:30. Win cash prizes. WTAM and WLW.

What Price LAZY APPETITE

"Dear, are you not glad you followed my suggestion when I urged you to try S.S.S. for your lost appetite?"

HAVE you an indifference or loathing for food, or do you really enjoy mealtime?

Fads and fancies come and go. We must be reasonable. You can't afford to wreck your body by "killing" an appetite given you by Nature to nourish your body.

You must really enjoy your meals and assimilate them to restore the waste of the body. Don't expect a strong, sturdy body and a keen mind to carry on if you do not enjoy your food. It just can't be done. Friends, happiness and business success may depend on a keen appetite.

Many thousands have turned to S.S.S. when the appetite signaled danger. It is a time-tested remedy . . . purely vegetable. Easy to assimilate. Pleasant to take. It will do much to restore the natural appetite. It will not act instantly, but, be assured, when taken according to directions, it will usually bring back your desire to eat and enjoy your food. This you well know is the basic step for health. Simply reason it out for yourself and you will agree that it is the practical way.

And remember, S.S.S. will help you get your blood-cells back up to normal. Then that sluggish, let-down feeling and skin troubles will disappear. You should sleep soundly. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again. At all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

All in the week's weather . . .

. . . and it's mighty tough on motor oil

You need the one oil made especially to meet Ohio's quick-changing temperature

New SOHIO MOTOR OIL

free from harmful wax

NEW SOHIO

An Advanced Motor Oil
First introduced last May, now still further refined for winter, this 100% paraffin base oil is a greatly improved product representing the most recent scientific developments in the manufacture of lubricants.

NEW SOHIO

Free From Harmful Wax
The harmful, clogging wax has been removed from New Sohio Motor Oil by a remarkable new process which whisks it away at 50° below zero.

NEW SOHIO

Withstands Extreme Heat
Harmful wax gives motor oil an artificial body which melts away under heat . . . but, New Sohio Motor Oil is free from harmful wax and so holds its body . . . stands up . . . even under the extreme heat reached in present day high-speed, high-compression engines.

Now Sohio Ethyl Gasoline is specially refined for cold weather — has 35% added starting power.

SOHIO Motor Oil is produced especially for the exacting lubrication requirements of motoring through a typical Ohio winter.

The amazing flexibility of this new oil—its ability to go right on lubricating no matter how often the weather changes, lifts it out of the ordinary. That is the result of a revolutionary process whereby it is freed from harmful wax, to a degree never before thought possible.

New Sohio is all oil—tougher—longer-living—a truly advanced motor lubricant for today's motors. It doesn't flinch when the mercury goes down out of sight. And in the intense heat reached in modern high-compression engines, its smooth, sturdy body keeps a perfect protective film between moving parts.

Enjoy winter motoring more than ever this year. Visit Red-White-and-Blue service stations and Sohio dealers regularly, and say "New Sohio Motor Oil." This modern motor oil is only 30c per quart and it's the same high quality wherever you get it.

THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(An Ohio Corporation)

NEW SOHIO

Withstands Extreme Cold
Wax hardens when cold . . . but New Sohio Motor Oil, free from harmful wax, will not become dangerously thick and sluggish even in extreme winter weather.

NEW SOHIO

Saves Battery Bills
The positive lubrication provided by New Sohio Motor Oil at all temperatures makes cold-weather starting much less of a drain on batteries . . . no dragging of heavy, sluggish oil.

NEW SOHIO

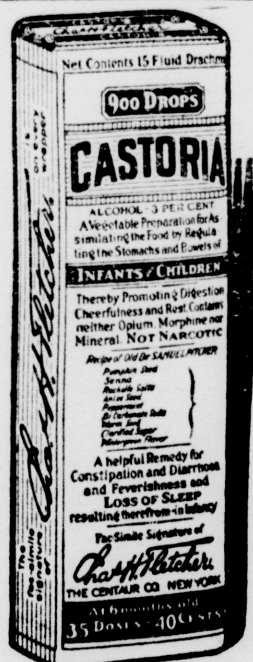

Reduces Carbon Formation
Excess wax in motor oils forms a gummy, sticky deposit which quickly turns into carbon. New Sohio Motor Oil reduces carbon formation, keeps engines cooler, guards against loss of power.

Join the Sohio Radio Treasure Hunt with the Sohioans, each Tuesday evening at 7:30. Win cash prizes. WTAM and WLW.

When Babies FRET

There are times when a baby is so fretful or feverish to be sung to sleep. There are some pains a mother cannot pat away. But there's no time when any baby can't have the quick comfort of Castoria! A few drops, and your little one is soon at ease—back to sleep almost before you can slip away.

Remember this harmless, pure vegetable preparation when children are ailing. Don't stop its use when Baby has been brought safely through the age of colic, diarrhea, and other infantile ills. Give good old Castoria until your children are in their teens! Whenever coated tongues tell of constipation; whenever there's any sign of sluggishness that needs no stronger medicines to relieve. Castoria is pleasant-tasting; children love to take it. What Price LAZY APPETITE?

"Dear, are you not glad you followed my suggestion when I urged you to try S.S.S. for your lost appetite?"

HAVE you an indifference or loathing for food, or do you really enjoy mealtime? Fads and fancies come and go. We must be reasonable. You can't afford to wreck your body by "killing" an appetite given you by Nature to nourish your body.

You must really enjoy your meals and assimilate them to restore the waste of the body. Don't expect a strong, sturdy body and a keen mind to carry on if you do not enjoy your food. It just can't be done. Friends, happiness and business success may depend on a keen appetite. Many thousands have turned to S.S.S. when the appetite signaled danger. It is a time-tested remedy . . . purely vegetable. Easy to assimilate. Pleasant to take. It will do much to restore the natural appetite. It will not act instantly, but, be assured, when taken according to directions, it will usually bring back your desire to eat and enjoy your food. This you well know is the basic step for health. Simply reason it out for yourself and you will agree that it is the practical way. And remember, S.S.S. will help you get your blood-cells back up to normal. Then that sluggish, let-down feeling and skin troubles will disappear. You should sleep soundly. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady. S.S.S. gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again. At all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

You have a Doctor's Word for this Laxative

IN 1875, an earnest young man began to practice medicine. As a family doctor, he treated many cases of constipation. He soon saw the harm in common purges and began to seek something better. Out of his experience was born a famous prescription now in wide use.

This prescription was written thousands of times. It proved an ideal laxative for old and young. Children like its pleasant taste. Older people like it because it doesn't gripe or cause discomfort.

It is a mixture of fresh herbs and other pure ingredients; thoroughly effective for the most robust of men. Stimulates the normal muscular action of the bowels. So its use will not become a habit. As people saw how marvelously the most sluggish bowels are started and bad breath, headaches, biliousness, feverishness, or no energy, poor appetite, etc., are relieved by Dr. Caldwell's prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use.

Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. All drug stores have the generous bottles. The product never varies from Dr. Caldwell's original formula. So you can take it with confidence or give it to the youngest child.

ATWATER KENT SCREEN-GRID RADIO POWER-TONE

The dream of every set owner—a perfect radio! One that excels in power, without hum or noise, that brings in far distant stations as though they were locals, that has a natural tone, honest and undistorted.

With an ATWATER KENT SCREEN-GRID RADIO, such a dream becomes a reality. Needle point selectivity brings in station after station with but a slight turn of the dial.

Over 3,000,000 Atwater Kent owners will testify as to the perfect satisfaction their radio has given them; seven years of undisputed leadership speaks for itself. And today, Mr. A. Atwater Kent personally endorses the present Screen-Grid set as the best he has ever produced.

Come into our display room any time for a free demonstration. One evening's performance will convince you. There is no better radio value on the market.

You have a Doctor's Word for this Laxative

IN 1875, an earnest young man began to practice medicine. As a family doctor, he treated many cases of constipation. He soon saw the harm in common purges and began to seek something better. Out of his experience was born a famous prescription now in wide use.

This prescription was written thousands of times. It proved an ideal laxative for old and young. Children like its pleasant taste. Older people like it because it doesn't gripe or cause discomfort. It is a mixture of fresh herbs and other pure ingredients; thoroughly effective for the most robust of men. Stimulates the normal muscular action of the bowels. So its use will not become a habit. As people saw how marvelously the most sluggish bowels are started and bad breath, headaches, biliousness, feverishness, or no energy, poor appetite, etc., are relieved by Dr. Caldwell's prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use.

Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. All drug stores have the generous bottles. The product never varies from Dr. Caldwell's original formula. So you can take it with confidence or give it to the youngest child.

Rosies Drop First Battle to Celtics

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26.—With one defeat chalked up against them in their two-game series with the New York Celtics, Cleveland's professional basketball champions are out to even the score in tonight's encounter.

The New Yorkers put the local outfit in the basket for a 17 to 13 count here last night in opening the Cleveland professional season. The Cleveland crew was sadly lacking in its attack and displayed poor form in accurate passing and sharp shooting, a part of which may have been due to the fact that several of the local boys are crippled with injuries.

Davey Banks was the scoring ace of the Celtics, dropping two field goals and three free shots. Skurnick and Lapchick divided scoring honors for Cleveland with four each.

Americans living in Paris now number 26,000.

Akron Man Lauds "Orange Root" For Ridding Him Of Backache And Kidney Weakness

Mr. Amos Hyson Wins Great Victory Over Health-Sapping Kidney Trouble Which Kept Him Weak, Nervous and All Rundown.

Constant Aching in Back Combined With Weak Kidneys, Made Life Miserable For Him Till He Took a Course of "ORANGE ROOT"—Feels Fine and Dandy Now Says

Mr. Amos Hyson, of 650 Fultz st., Akron, Ohio, employed for the past 12 years at the Goodrich Tire & Rubber company, comes out strong for "ORANGE ROOT," the world's greatest all-around TONIC. Having suffered dreadfully for years with kidney and bladder troubles and unable to find anything that would give him the least bit of relief, finally got started on "ORANGE ROOT" and after taking a course of it, sends in this cheerful report that others suffering as he did might benefit by it. He says: "For years I have suffered awful tortures with my kidneys and bladder. My back ached constantly and nothing seemed to do me any good. I would have to get up several times during the night and when I awoke in the mornings I felt as though I had not gone to bed at all. My whole system was weakened by this suffering, till I looked and felt like a person half dead. "ORANGE ROOT" has done for me what all the doctors and other remedies failed to do, RELIEVED me of all my suffering and built up my weakened run down system. I feel that I cannot praise "ORANGE ROOT" too highly, for I look and act like a different person since taking it. All those dreadful pains and aches have left, and I can go to bed and sleep all night long and get up in the mornings feeling rested and refreshed. It is remarkable how quickly my strength came back after taking it for only a few days. Even my appetite is better and what I eat seems to agree with me for I am gaining in weight right along. I heartily recommend ORANGE ROOT to any one suffering with kidney trouble and bladder weakness for it surely does the work, and does it QUICKLY. I found the Golden Nuggets to be the best liver regulator and laxative I ever used. Since taking them I do not have any more dizzy spells or headaches and feel peppy and alert at all times. My whole system everywhere has been strengthened and built up for I FEEL GOOD ALL OVER. If you suffer as Mr. Hyson did, or have stomach trouble, nervousness, or rheumatism, pimples, boils, etc., or feel tired and worn out all the time for goodness sake, go at once to MATHEWS MEDICINE STORE, get 3 or 4 bottles of the TONIC, a box of the golden Nuggets, take them according to directions, and WATCH THE SPEEDY AND LASTING improvement in your condition. Hundreds right here are being restored to glorious HEALTH via the famous ORANGE ROOT route and you too, may become HEALTHY, WELL and STRONG, if you will give this great tonic a chance to help you. Prices, TONIC $1.25; Nuggets, 50c. For speedy relief from "Dangerous Hang-on" cough, Night cough, Deep Seated cough, Bronchial or Asthmatic cough, take H. & J. CREAMSOTE EMULSION Compound. "ORANGE ROOT" has done for me what all the doctors and other remedies failed to do. RELIEVED me of all my suffering and built up my weakened run down system. I feel that I cannot praise "ORANGE ROOT" too highly, for I look and act like a different person since taking it. All those dreadful pains and aches have left, and I can go to bed and sleep all night long and get up in the mornings feeling rested and refreshed. It is remarkable how quickly my strength came back after taking it for only a few days. Even my appetite is better and what I eat seems to agree with me for I am gaining in weight right along. I heartily recommend ORANGE ROOT to any one suffering with kidney trouble and bladder weakness for it surely does the work, and does it QUICKLY. I found the Golden Nuggets to be the best liver regulator and laxative I ever used. Since taking them I do not have any more dizzy spells or headaches and feel peppy and alert at all times. My whole system has been strengthened and built up for I FEEL GOOD ALL OVER. If you suffer as Mr. Hyson did, or have stomach trouble, nervousness, or rheumatism, pimples, boils, etc., or feel tired and worn out all the time for goodness sake, go at once to MATHEWS MEDICINE STORE, get 3 or 4 bottles of the TONIC, a box of the golden Nuggets, take them according to directions, and WATCH THE SPEEDY AND LASTING improvement in your condition. Pupils, Fans To Gather in Pep Session

Meet in Auditorium If Weather is Bad.

Last and biggest pep session of the season, on the eve of the annual Thanksgiving day battle at Wellsville, will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in East Fourth street, near the Carnegie library when well-wishers of the Blue and White will bid them luck in their final gridiron scrap of the current campaign.

High school students and teachers, members of the football squad, representatives of the East Liverpool Athletic association and fans in general have been invited to turn out for the gathering.

In the event of inclement weather the affair will be staged in the high school auditorium.

As a preliminary feature, the school's 50-piece band will string of a few hot tunes in a parade through the principal streets of the city, with a brief stop-over in the Diamond.

The musicians will return to the site of the pep session and, unless the weather interferes, will contribute a musical program to the other events that are being arranged for the occasion.

Dads of the squad members will be there and probably will be called upon for a few remarks.

There will be speakers likely from the high school faculty, the Athletic association and others, probably, as well.

It will be the last opportunity for fans to rally 'round the Blue and White standard because the curtain comes down on high school football tomorrow on the Wellsville gridiron. As a result a large consignment of vocal encouragement is expected to be delivered in the Fourth street district to night.

ILLINI REFUSE TO PICK LEADER

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 27.—Refusal of this year's University of Illinois football team to name a captain for next season left the campus mildly surprised today.

Although 13 letter men voted on the ballots for captain, only three veterans are reported to have signified their choices. The remaining men either turned in blank ballots or wrote "no choice" across the face of them.

Fight Results

AT NEW YORK—Andy Divodi, Bay Ridge, knocked out Marty Roth, East Side, in the third round (6).

Lew Feldman, East Side, and Jimmy Slavin, West Side, fought six rounds to a draw.

Eddie "Kid" Whalen, Brooklyn, knocked out Frank Ponzi, Louisville, in the second round (6).

Arthur De Champlain, medical regiment, won an eight-round decision over Jack Sharkey, infantry.

Charlie Handford, infantry, scored second round technical knockout over Harry Mulcahey, infantry.

AT LOS ANGELES—Eddie Mack, Colorado, won a 10-round non-titular decision over Ted Morgan, junior lightweight champion.

AT READING—Gary Bagdad, Persia, won an eight-round decision over Gene Geffner, Vineland. Danny Develin scored a third-round technical knockout over "Red" Grange.

Tony Loftus won an eight-round decision over Harry Murphy. Gus Bithas defeated Sammy Spadafora, Johnny Zorena defeated Jimmy Kantner and Whitey Zeas knocked out Mickey Moore in a series of four-rounders.

AT PORTLAND, Me.—Laddie Lee, Portland, won a five-round decision over Paddy Mullins, Boston. Billy Hindley and Al Linzi fought six rounds to a draw.

Seconds Play At Newell in Morning Tilt

High Reserves in Action on West Virginia Grid.

With their victories and defeats on an even basis to date, the Newell high school footballers will strive to make it a majority-win season tomorrow morning when they tackle the East Liverpool Reserves at Newell park. The game is scheduled for 10:15 o'clock.

Whether the West Virginians will accomplish their object is doubtful in view of the brand of opposition that the Blue and White seconds are bound to give them.

Coach Nate Lorah today announced his varsity starting lineup will be intact with all of the erstwhile cripples back in uniform and ready for action.

The Newell mentor will use Livingston and Manson on the ends; Laneve and Burson on the tackles; Mylar and Smith, guards; Graham, center; Miller, quarter; Kaufman and Lisk, halves; and Gilmore, fullback.

The Newell record to date includes victories over Empire, Chester, Bergholz and Parkman. They have lost to Bridgeport, Etna, Salsville and Lisbon.

One game, with New Cumberland, resulted in a tie.

ZOOK
Ray Watts, coach of Baldwin Wallace at Berea will be head linesman. Players of both squads are in top condition for the fray and should be going at their best.

Having won the last three consecutive games, the Potters are confident they will make it a fourth in tomorrow's battle while an equal share of confidence permeates the ranks of the Evans cohorts in Wellsville.

All arrangements for the grid classic are complete. The kick-off is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock.

Harry Towne, Cleveland, coach of Glenville high school teams, will referee. Towne acted in a similar capacity at the East Liverpool-Wellsville game last year.

Don McRae, of Ohio Wesleyan, has been selected as umpire, and

ZOOK'S AIDE

Zook last night drilled the Potters in pass defense with a brushing up on offense tactics.

Evans at Wellsville gave his charges a thorough workout with attack formations figuring largely in the maneuvers.

Statistics as announced by the coaches of the two teams give the Wellsville squad a decided weight advantage over the Potters, the Orange line averaging 169 and the Blue forwards 150. Most of this Wellsville weight, however, is concentrated at center and right guard with Manning tipping the beam at 170 and Butler at 212.

Dalrymple and McCoy, the East Liverpool tackles, weigh in at 175 apiece but the remainder of the line is only an average aggregation.

East Liverpool's backfield, with the 170-pound Joe Chetwin, fullback, heading the list, will have a weight edge on Wellsville, the figures giving the Potters an average of 152 and Wellsville 147.

However, weights and such things rarely figure to any considerable extent in these East Liverpool-Wellsville encounters where anything is apt to break loose at any time.

The Orange and Black will show a decided speed threat with four shifty backs, any of whom can run the ball, in Checkler, Walker, Petrella and Kesler, the veteran checker being probably the outstanding pigskin toter of the lot.

Pierce, Smith, Chetwin and Patron will probably start on the backs for the locals.

McConville's Last Grid Game

For something like 15 years Frank M. McConville of St. Clair avenue, has owned more than a passing interest in East Liverpool high school athletics because he has contributed no less than five sons and a daughter to the preparation of Blue and White achievements in the realm of sports.

Tomorrow East Liverpool high will close its 1929 gridiron season against Wellsville at Nicholson Field and while McConville expects to be happy in an East Liverpool victory, the event, nevertheless, will hold a moment or two of sadness for this staunch backer of high school sports because Harry, "last of the McConvilles," will bid adieu to high school football.

And while the elder McConville doubtless will continue to be prominent among followers of scholastic activities as the years roll on, the game will lack the thrills of yore—unless he can get a grandson or two on future squads.

The McConville string started back along about 1914-1915 when the oldest, began to figure in foot ball and basketball. Then there succeeded, in turn, Winnie, Charles,

HELPS EVANS

Evans' coaching assistant at Wellsville is "Reb" Russell, who has had charge of the Wellsville line this season.

PRO-MIDLAND TILT SUNDAY

Pearl L. Dailey, manager of the East Liverpool Pros, today announced completion of arrangements for the second game of the home and home series between the local Pros and the Midland Merchants.

The game will be staged Sunday at Midland.

TIGERS, EX-HIGHS IN THIRD GAME

In the third and final game of their three-ply series, the Golden Star Tigers and the Wellsville Ex-Highs will clash Sunday afternoon at Sherwood Field. The game is scheduled for 3 o'clock.

The teams have played two games to date. The Wellsville eleven won the first tilt, 13 to 6 and the Tigers evened the series in the second meeting with a 12-0 victory.

Tickets are on sale at Kommel's Lunch, Golden Star Dairy Products store and Lotta Miles Tire shop. The Tigers are holding practice sessions this week at city park.

New York Awaits Tartan Invasion

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—A light signal drill today and New York university will have completed its preparation for Carnegie Tech.

The peak of a two-hour drill was reached yesterday when more than a dozen characteristic Carnegie players were launched by the reserves against the varsity to no avail.

Only 19 years old and weighing 160 pounds, Simrall has played a brilliant game in Michigan's backfield for the last two years.

ABSECON, N. J., Nov. 27.—Rolf Carlsten, Penn half back, who was thought to be definitely out of Thursday's battle with Cornell, worked back recovered sufficiently to make him a likely starter.

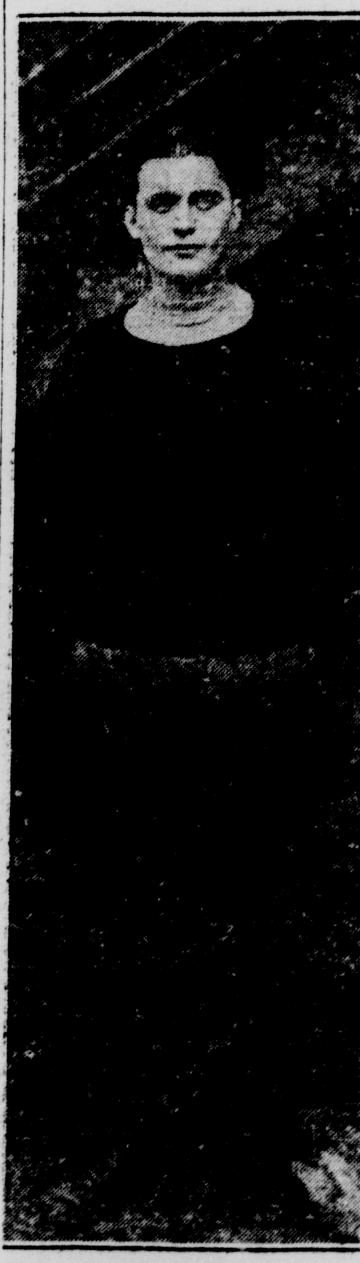

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 27.—Driven here by inclement weather at Hanover, Dartmouth's big green squad today was to engage in its first workout since arriving.

No scrimmages will be attempted. Instead the green will prepare for Navy on Saturday with signal drills, dummy scrimmage, punting and passing.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 27.—Alarmed by the ease with which the scrubs, using Notre Dame formations, gained against the varsity, Coach Bitt Jones planned today to again send his first and second team against Rockne's formations.

The Army mentor found little joy in watching the workout yesterday. On a slippery field with scrubs, with an attack featuring sharp dives off tackle and quick dashes at the flanks, kept the varsity on the run.

TIGER COACH

Dave Evans is head coach of the Wellsville high squad. Evans is finishing his second season with the Tigers.

Coach Nate Lorah today announced his varsity starting lineup will be intact with all of the erstwhile cripples back in uniform and ready for action.

The Newell mentor will use Livingston and Manson on the ends; Lanevo and Burson on the tackles; Mylar and Smith, guards; Graham, center; Miller, quarter; Kaufman and Lisk, halves; and Gilmore, fullback.

The Newell record to date includes victories over Empire, Chester, Bergholz and Parkman. They have lost to Bridgeport, Elus, Sallenville and Lisbon.

One game, with New Cumberland, resulted in a tie.

Although 18 letter men voted on the ballots for captain, only three veterans are reported to have signified their choices. The remaining men either turned in blank ballots

When tires get old and treads are worn dangerous skidding is much more probable. When your tires reach this stage the best thing to do is to trade them in on a new set of Millers — keeping the best old tire for a spare.

We can allow you all your old tires are worth because we can sell them to someone with an older car or someone who doesn't drive so much.

Let us tell you more about this better way to buy tires.

ACTIONS SPEAK LOUDER THAN WORDS

The Collosal Bargains Purchased in our big Auction Sale have brought the same people back time and again until we have had to turn many away for lack of room. To those who have not already participated in the sale we would suggest you come early and get a taste of the wonderful bargains to be had in many instances the article only brings a fraction of the cost price. But we must have the stock out to remodel our building. So we can bring our Automobile business in.

Remember This Is A Remodeling and Consolidation Sale

We must have the room at any sacrifice. Now that it is less than a month until Christmas we have decided to open up our Christmas stock and dispose of it in the Auction Sale. There will be no sale tomorrow, Thanksgiving Day.

Auction Daily at 2:30 and 7:30, Until Stock is Gone.
